Pope Francis

Dear St. E Community,

As you may know, the date for Prom was moved from May 19, 2017 to May 18, 2017. The previous date conflicted with a State Championship that could affect up to 10% of our juniors and seniors. Our intent is to move Prom back to Friday evening for the 2017-18 school year and we already have been looking into dates. Friday, May 19, 2017 will be a cyber day for all students.

Pax,

Dr. Huck

Student of the Week

At St. Elizabeth, students often hear the call to help out at events, to join a club and to support a Viking team. In fact, this Viking often announces these invitations at assembly or on the PA. This week's Student of the Week has responded enthusiastically as a student leader - speaking at admissions and technology events, and serving as an ambassador for Open House - both before and during the event. With a genuine Viking Pride, this junior appreciates the importance of school spirit and works to involve fellow juniors and underclassmen in activities and service projects. During the winter sports season, she can be seen as a dedicated and supportive basketball manager.

For her cheerful example of Benedictine hospitality, work and service, Junior Lauren Desmond is the Student of the Week.

Maroon & Gold Athlete

This week's Maroon & Gold Athlete of the week is a consummate team player. His work ethic, determination and drive embody the Viking spirit and his contributions to his team are seen in a variety of ways on the court. He is often seen but not heard and goes about his business in a workmanlike manner. He is first to arrive at practice and last to leave. He understands his role and is willing to sacrifice for the betterment of the team. He is respected by his coaches, teammates and opponents. He embodies what we are looking for in our student athletes and works hard on the court and in the classroom. Although he is not a starter or leading scorer, his contributions both on offense and defense have helped to contribute to the success of the freshman and JV basketball teams this season.

Congratulations to Maroon & Gold Athlete of the Week, Freshman Tyler Tillinghast.
